

Marshall Children Young Docent Program: Outdoor Adventures with the Marshall Family

Embark on a journey through time and experience life as it was for families residing at the Glebe during the Revolutionary War era! By participating in our Marshall Children Young Docent Program, you will not only delve into history but also acquire valuable skills.

2025 Spring Session Dates:
March 6 & 20, April 3 & 24, May 8 & 22.

Program Highlights:

- Guided Tours: Learn the art of guiding visitors through the Glebe House and its grounds, sharing captivating stories and historical facts.
- Interactive Workshops: Engage in hands-on activities like candle making, quill writing, and open-hearth cooking, gaining insights into colonial life.
- Colonial Crafts: Discover traditional crafts and create your own colonial-era-inspired pieces.
- Museum Visits: Embark on enriching field trips to local museums, expanding your knowledge of the region's history.
- Garden Exploration: Explore the beauty and significance of the Gertrude Jekyll Garden, learning about its design and the plants that thrive within it.

Engaging Classes:

- The First Harvest - Maple Sap: Discover the process of tapping maple trees and producing maple syrup, a vital source of sustenance for colonial families.
- Colonial Containers and Basket Making: Learn how containers and baskets were crafted using natural materials and traditional techniques.
- Farm Life in the 18th Century: Experience the daily routines and chores of a colonial farm, gaining a deeper understanding of agricultural practices during that era.
- The Gertrude Jekyll Garden at the Glebe House: Uncover the history and design principles behind the Gertrude Jekyll Garden, a renowned example of Arts and Crafts garden design.
- Art, Poetry, and the Garden: Explore the connections between art, poetry, and nature, drawing inspiration from the garden's beauty.
- The Three Sisters Garden: Learn about the traditional Native American agricultural practice of interplanting corn, beans, and squash, known as the "Three Sisters."

The program is open to interested children ages 6 and up, with sessions available in the Fall & Spring. Meetings are held on select Thursday afternoons from 4:00-5:30 pm.
